KANSAS CITY FIRE CLAIMS HEAVY TOLL

HOUSE BUSY NOW AFTER REST FOR SENATE ACTION

Representatives Use Economy as Guide and Slash Many Plums.

SCHOOL AID SLASHED Anglin Throws Hitch in Bill to Aid Cattlemen on Tubercular Problem.

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23.—The lower house of the legislature went into session this morning in an effort to catch up with the senate in the dispatch of business. The senate having a practically clean calendar, adjourned until Monday.

With economy as its guide, the senate yesterday sustained the action of its appropriation committee in trimming from $915,000 to $400,000 the house bill appropriating an emergency fund for the aid of rural schools which have voted the maximum tax levy and are still faced with the necessity of cutting their terms short on account of a lack of money.

The senate committee investigating the building projects under appropriations of the last legislature, expected to continue its hearings today and tomorrow.

Senate bill No. 200, by Ross Lillard, Oklahoma City, making wife abandonment a felony, was passed. The bill provides for parole by the governor on recommendation by the district judges assessing sentence when certain conditions are complied with by the wife.

Cattle Bill Deferred.

Consideration of the tubercular cattle bill, by Reed of the senate and Adams of the house, was deferred until another legislative day. During the debate on the bill, Senator Anglin charged that certain cattle owners have made the state pay thousands of dollars for tubercular cattle which were not killed as the law provides, but were quarantined and used to produce calves which were sold at a profit. The bill provides that owners be reimbursed for tubercular cattle slaughtered by order of the state board of agriculture. Senator Reed held that the state was bound by previous laws to pay the owners. At his request further consideration of the measure was postponed.

A resolution inviting Sidney Smith, "the daddy of Any Gump," who will be a visitor to Oklahoma City next week, to address the senate was passed.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23.—The marketing commission bill is regarded as certain of passage by the lower house. The final test came on a motion to reconsider the measure which motion was tabled by one vote.

The bill provides for the regulation by the state of all trading operations between farmers and those who buy from them. The motion to reconsider was offered by J. C. Nance.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23.—Gov. J. C. Walton in a brief statement today expressed his disapproval of the slicing of educational appropriations for the next two years effected in the senate yesterday when the emergency appropriation by the house was cut half a million dollars and almost a million for next year.

"I hope to see the appropriation put back before the bill is finally passed," he said, "for the children in the poorer districts must have help. They are entitled to the same chance that others get."

Reid Now on Card to Meet Cooper in Boxing Bout Here

Bobby Reid, winner of many ring bouts in Texas, will be on the leading card with Archie Cooper here February 28 instead of Jack Howe of Fort Worth, according to A. R. Dixon, manager of Cooper.

Cooper received a telegram from Howe stating that he had received injuries which would prevent him from engaging in the bout here with Cooper. Reid was substituted immediately in his stead.

Reid, who hails from Denison, has several ring bouts to his credit and will prove a worthy contender on the boxing card here.

The word "longshoreman," a man who loads and unloads boats, is derived from the original "along shoreman."

"Dollars Don't Grow on Bushes" Wealthy Swiss Bride is Learning

(By Central Press) CHERRY VALE, Kan., Feb. 23.—Over in Europe, particularly since the war, the impression exists that in America dollars grow on bushes like roses in June.

Maybe the reckless spending of the doughboys while they were "over there" had something to do with it. And the "shave-tail" second lous and the like who tried to "put on the dog" probably helped it along.

But the impression is there anyway and it wasn't dissipated when Mlle. Aileen Asta Peters of Zurich, Switzerland, met W. W. Clark, then a sergeant in the U. S. engineer corps.

Clark met, saw and proposed to Mlle. Peters. And she said "Yes." That settled it.

Together they decided to postpone the nuptials until Clark has returned to the United States and been mustered out of the army.

Clark went back to his outfit. At last—it was an eternity to Clark—he was once more a civilian.

And one of his first acts was to send for his Swiss fiancée. She in turn lost no time in making train and boat connections.

When she arrived here Clark took a day off from his employment as a steel bridge worker and met his bride-to-be. They were married. Then Clark went back to his job.

Then came the awakening for Mrs. Clark. Her husband had to work for his dollars. They weren't portioned out like army rations and dollar bushes appeared extinct.

But that didn't work the little Swiss girl. She's wealthy in her own name, but that makes no difference to her husband or to her.

Mrs. W. W. Clark, nee Mlle. Aileen Asta Peters and her husband.

OIL SHOWING IN COUNTY HOPEFUL

Work on Cleaning Out Old Discovery Well on; Other Fields Worked.

Work of cleaning out the discovery well in the Bebee field in section 32-5-5, owned by the Carter-Lowery syndicate, is proceeding. It will probably be three or four days before the shot can be put in the hole, though this will be determined when the casing is raised and the amount of caving known.

LaSalle and associates are getting ready to put down their well in section 31-5-5 west of the discovery.

The new well of the Carter-Lowery syndicate, in the same section as the discovery well, has been shut down temporarily.

Ed Gillette, Ollie Lancaster and others interested in the test well on the Morris farm just east of Ada are pleased with the showing of oil and gas at 500 feet. While there was not enough to amount to anything at this depth, it is taken as an indication that they are on a structure and they believe the deeper sand will prove good.

Geologists of several companies have been working out of Ada in recent weeks, and more activity is expected in other parts of the county before long. Several blocks of acreage are being gathered up with the expectation of drilling this spring and summer. Conservative estimates place the number of wells to be drilled in the county this year at not fewer than twenty-five. Naturally many of these will be in the Allen, Francis, Bebee and Steedman fields which are already producing.

PREPARING FOR CORNER STONE LAYING SUNDAY

Preparations for the laying of the corner stone of the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon are about complete and the congregation is hoping that the weather will permit the entire program being rendered out of doors.

A feature of the event will be the placing of a box containing a number of things of interest inside the stone. The church roll, a history of the local church, a Bible and other articles will be included.

MINERS PLEAD GUILTY ON MURDER OF SHERIFF

WELLSBURG, Pa., Feb. 23.—Thirty miners, charged with murder in connection with the killing of Sheriff H. H. Duval and six deputies in an attack last June, entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced to serve three years in the Moundsville penitentiary by Judge Somerville in circuit court here.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS FINISH CONVENTION AT PAWHUSKA

(By the Associated Press) PAWHUSKA, Feb. 23.—Delegates to the convention held by the Oklahoma League of Democrats were on their way home today. George Hill of McAlester was elected president and Sulphur selected as the place of the next meeting at the business session of yesterday. Mrs. Riggan was elected vice-president and Guy Woodward of Okmulgee, secretary-treasurer.

Payment of a cash bonus to former service men was endorsed in a resolution adopted. Principal speakers at the convention were E. B. Howard, congressman-elect, and G. J. Wrightman, both of Tulsa.

Guy Woodward was reared in Ada and made a highly creditable record in both the high school and college before completing his education at the state university. When a student here he took a very active interest in inter-scholastic debates.

MEXICAN HANGED FOR CRUEL DEED

Executed Man Alleged to Have Crushed Boy's Head With Stone.

(By the Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 23.—Clemente Polnari was hanged at 11:05 o'clock in the Bexar county jail for the murder of Theodore Bernhardt, a 14 year old boy in 1921.

The crime for which Polnari paid the extreme penalty was one of the most brutal in the history of Bexar county. The Mexican, who had been twice confined in the Southwestern hospital for the insane, killed the boy on the morning of August 16, 1921, by crushing his head with a stone.

According to testimony brought out in the trial, young Bernhardt and his younger brother were herding dairy cows on Salado creek. The boys had stopped at a pool to play. Polnari approached and apparently became incensed because the boys had muddled the water. The boys started to run; the Mexican hurled a stone at the larger one, knocking him down. He then crushed the boy's head and gouged out an eye which was found in his pocket later when arrested after an all day search.

Smith is the most common family name in England, followed by Jones, Williams, Taylor and Davies.

RUHR OUTBREAK AGAIN GETS TOLL

Martial Law Declared Over Bochum After Shooting of German Civilians.

(By the Associated Press) DÜSSELDORF, Feb. 23.—Blood has again been shed in course of the French "digging in" process. One German civilian was killed and two others seriously injured at Bochum as the French soldiers were occupying the law court building.

Observers said the shooting was done by the police who were incensed by the jeers of the crowd that had assembled to witness the operations.

The collection of customs dues will probably be complicated by orders from Berlin that no taxes be paid to the occupation forces.

ESSEN, Feb. 23.—The French have decided to replace German customs officials with French throughout the Ruhr, it was announced today.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Martial law has been declared at Bochum, says a dispatch to the Central News as a result of the clash which occurred there yesterday.

Game With Baptists Postponed; Game to be Played Saturday

Owing to the misunderstanding between coaches of the East Central State College and the Oklahoma Baptist University, there will be no game played here tonight as was previously announced.

The original schedule called for the game to be played here February 24 but other arrangements were agreed upon by Thompson and the O. B. U. coach. A new coach took charge of athletics at O. B. U. and did not know of the arrangement. The game will be played here Saturday night at the College gym as outlined in the original schedule.

FREIGHT RATES TO TEXAS PORTS RULED DISCRIMINATORY

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Present freight rates on cotton in transit between Oklahoma and Arkansas producing territories and Galveston, Houston and Texas City are discriminatory against those ports and giving undue preference to New Orleans and Mobile, it was decided today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. A general revision of the schedule will be overhauled between now and May 31.

Caronite ore, from which radium comes, is mined principally in Pardo Valley, New Mexico.

FILIBUSTER ENDS ON AGREEMENT OF PARTY CHAMPIONS

Agree to Take up Business After Standstill From Monday Session.

FILIBUSTERERS HOPEFUL

Opponents of Shipping Bill Consider Fight for Its Passage Lost.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—An end to the senate shipping bill filibuster appeared in sight today when an agreement reached at a conference held behind closed doors cleared the way for other business which has been at a standstill since Monday. It was agreed that after an executive session, the senate would adjourn at 6 o'clock this afternoon, and devote the first two hours of tomorrow's session to the consideration of minor bills, leaving open the possibility of a vote for recommitting the shipping bill.

After the agreement had been reached, administration leaders spoke of the shipping bill as being as good as dead and that the bill "only waits the final onsequest before being interred."

The plans for bringing an end to the filibuster were agreed to after a conference held at the White House between President Harding and Senator Curtis of Kansas. The senate will consider the confirmation of a number of nominations at the executive session. The willingness of administration leaders to call off the night sessions and devote two hours tomorrow to other matters is regarded by the opponents of the shipping bill as a virtual abandonment of efforts to pass it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Although Republican house leaders ended the filibuster in the house against the proposed purchase of the Cape Cod canal by the government, the legislative jam in that body has been intensified by the time consumed by the filibuster. According to the program there is some prospect of securing action on the alien property bill, which is the unfinished business before the house today. A number of representatives were prepared to offer amendments to the bill for the return of alien property some of which would direct the return of all property seized instead of only the smaller parcels as provided by the terms of the pending measure.

The Republican leaders could give no indication of when the Cape Cod canal bill would be called up again. Chairman Winslow, who has the bill in charge, declared that the party managers gave him no assurance that the bill would be considered again during the present session of congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Belief that the Lenroot-Anderson bill as passed by the senate offers a satisfactory basis for a real rural credit system, permitting more stability and a more orderly system of marketing was expressed today by Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture in a letter to Representative Anderson, Republican of Minnesota, author of the measure.

Declaring he could see no strong objection to the enactment of the Capper bill, which also received the senate's approval, Secretary Wallace said that the effort to make the rural credit bill a substitute for the Lenroot-Anderson measure, would give the farmers of the nation reason to believe they had been given a stone in reply to their request for bread.

Wallace's letter was looked upon by many members as taking issue with Secretary Mellon of the treasury, who in a letter to the chairman of the house banking committee, expressed a preference for the Capper bill, declaring that the provisions of the Lenroot-Anderson bill were "dangerous and unworkable." The Lenroot-Anderson bill, as passed by the senate and sent to the house, has received the cordial approval of President Harding.

OKLAHOMA CITY PHYSICIAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23.—Dr. A. B. C. Davis, local physician, was charged with murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Zudek through an alleged illegal operation. Affidavits of 35 women absolving the physician from blame in the event of serious consequences and a quantity of drugs were found in Davis's office, county officials said.

Bootlegger Held as Alleged Killer of Hooch Sleuth

Police are holding a bootlegger as the slayer of Carl Metta, rum sleuth, who was shot to death in Cleveland. The man, who was arrested several times through Metta's activities, is said to have confessed.

CITY AND COUNTY ON BOOZE TRAIL

Two Departments Cooperate in Effort to Check Flow of Booze.

Complete co-operation between the city and county law enforcement departments looms up as a certainty after concentrated raids on booze haunts in the county during the week.

The estrangement between city and county departments so evident in many cities of Oklahoma will not mar the spirit of co-operation between these two departments in Ada is the apparent attitude of high officials of the city and county.

The combined effort of city and county officers has brought about the arrest of several parties during the week which would not have been perfected by either of the separate departments, officials say.

County Attorney J. W. Dean was very optimistic over the possibility of complete co-operation between the two departments in matters that may require their effort. Dean pointed out the arrest of Ben Nipps and Jess Daniels on liquor law violation charge as the effect of co-operation. Both men were arrested in Ada by Wick Adair, chief of police, for having liquor in their possession but without the co-operation of the county authorities the still owned by the two men would not have been found. This spirit of co-operation is gratifying to the citizens of Ada and the county authorities as well and we will at all times offer our co-operation for the enforcement of the law," Dean said.

Irish Free State Troops Gather Up Rebel Pillagers

(By the Associated Press) DUBLIN, Feb. 23.—More than 20 Irish irregulars captured in raids made in Dublin last evening and this morning. Other raids are now in progress.

DUBLIN, Feb. 23.—Five Irish irregular officers, the most important of whom was Sean Fitzpatrick, have been captured by the crime investigation department of the free state government, it was stated at army headquarters. Fitzpatrick is said to be the commandant of the Dublin brigade of irregulars. A rumor was circulated to the effect that de Valera, head of the republicans, had also been captured, but this was not verified.

RAILROAD PRESIDENT TO CONTEST REDUCTION RATES

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Eastern Railway conference of presidents today voted to contest the recent order of the Interstate Commerce Commission providing for the sale of interchangeable mileage books at 20 percent below prevailing rates.

13 PERSONS ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN HOTEL BLAZE

Fire at Kansas City, Kansas Takes Toll of Many Hotel Occupants.

TRAPPED IN FLAMES

Fire Discovered by Passerby After Blaze is Beyond Control.

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Feb. 23.—Thirteen persons were burned to death and three others are missing following a fire early today that destroyed a two-story building.

Among the known dead and missing are: Mrs. Elisha Colston, 27, and children Violet, 5, and John Vernon, 2; Leon Brown, 32, his wife, Bessie, 28, and children Catherine, 6, Margaret, 4, and Leon 2; Alonzo Bradford, wife and child; Ed Munyon and grandmother, 60; Mrs. Anna Sargent, 43, and grandson, Donald.

Thirteen bodies were recovered this morning, six adults and seven children. The only bodies identified were those of Mrs. Colston and her two children.

Between 30 and 40 persons occupied rooms in the building and several escaped by jumping from the windows.

The first floor was occupied by a garage. Fifteen motor cars were destroyed. Fire chief McNary estimates the damage at $20,000.

The fire was discovered shortly after 2 o'clock by persons in a passing car. The crew and passengers shouted to those in the building warning them of their danger. Elisha Colston escaped with his five year-old daughter Helen, but was unable to bring out the rest of his family because of the rapid spread of the flames.

Grotesque Tale of Fire.

"I thought I had my youngest child in my arms when I ran out of the house," Colston said, "but it proved to be my oldest. My wife attempted to follow with the other two children but the building was so far gone that the stairs collapsed as I went down."

Mrs. Sargent and her seven-year-old daughter Letha escaped, but her son Donald and her mother-in-law, she is certain failed to get out. Mrs. Sargent said she was awakened by the screams of her mother-in-law and picked up her little daughter, and ran out of the building. The last she saw of her mother-in-law the latter had her grandson in her arms and was trying to follow Mrs. Sargent.

F. C. Heatley, proprietor of the garage, was in the building when the fire was discovered. He attempted to turn in an alarm, but was prevented from reaching the telephone by the flames.

The authorities are now trying to determine the origin of the fire.

MICHIGAN DEMOS TO GROOM FORD

Manufacturer May be Pushed as Presidential Horse in Next Race.

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—The possibility that Henry Ford may be endorsed as the party's choice for the presidential nomination loomed before Michigan Democrats when they met in state convention today to adopt a platform and name candidates for minor state offices.

Some of the party leaders, however, feared that such action might divide the forces of the party and interfere with the coming campaign. A Ford boom came up last state convention, but nothing was done because it was thought best to concentrate all efforts on the election of Former Governor Ferris as senator and not run the risk of complications, by taking up national issues.

Ford was selected by Wayne county democrats to head the delegation of 137, but some doubt was expressed as to whether he would appear in person.

No statement was forthcoming from Ford's closest friends on his attitude on political affairs.

ACHIEVEMENT

In a little booklet of the Modern Woodmen of America we ran across this gem of thought:

"To build is to wear a crown. To create is to lead. The genius of our institution is development—improvement—building."

"The builder is both the cause and the effect in our American life."

"Character building—life building—health building—have outrun architecture."

These truths are worthy of study and to set up as an aim in life. We sometimes think in America we give too much emphasis to money making without the creative in mind. What can be nobler than creating things, building things, bringing into existence something of service? The farmer, the engineer, the manufacturer who puts to work a new factory, the stockman—these and others are producing things we need and must have to live more fully and completely.

There is great satisfaction in achievement, in creating, in making dreams come true. One of the young business men of Ada remarked a day or so ago that he gets more pleasure out of planning expansion in the future than he does in the profits of the hour. This may sound a bit contradictory, and yet it is one of the basic truths of life. Were America to lose her men of dreams, her men who plan and work to make those plans mature, she would lose that which has made this the greatest nation in the world.

FOR OPEN ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

A woman legislator has introduced a bill in the Ohio legislature to bar from the court rooms in the trial of cases involving a sex angle, all persons except those connected with the case, such as lawyers, witnesses, court officials and newspaper reporters.

The woman who introduced this bill has a good purpose in view, and that is to suppress morbid curiosity and prevent prurient and salacious details in such cases from going to the general public and especially from being heard by young people. But a foundation stone of Anglo-Saxon justice is the public hearing and the moment we start to surround the administration of justice with secrecy at that moment we start to arouse suspicion and to destroy confidence in our system of justice. Secrecy in justice would be abhorrent to a self-governing people, and while it must be admitted that the public trial of so-called sex cases is a bad thing for a community, yet a secret trial would be worse.

There have been trials in this community which this paper has reported in some detail, not for the purpose of feeding a morbid curiosity, but as a matter of justice to all the parties concerned and so that the public might have before it the evidence in measuring the agencies of justice.—Wichita Falls (Texas) Times.

INVOICE FOR STILLS

According to the terms of the new prohibitory laws just enacted by the state legislature, it is a felony to have a still upon your place, or to have sour mash or other alcoholic fermenting mixtures around your property. Hence, if you own a farm, it is highly advisable that you make frequent invoices to determine that you are not harboring a distilling plant unawares. The new law is a big step toward actual enforcement of the dry act. Heretofore, the determination of the ownership of a still has been very difficult. In our own county court prisoners have on several occasions been acquitted when they gave as a plea that they were hunting for cattle near a still and were arrested. The owner of a farm upon which a still is operated is now held responsible, thus making it possible for the officers, upon locating a still, to take the offenders. While in rare instances the farm owners may be ignorant of the existence of a still on their premises, in the majority of cases they are not so ignorant as they may claim.—El Reno American.

The United States senate is again giving the country an exhibition of a legislative body where one or more determined men can completely stop the entire machinery. While this filibustering may at times serve to defeat bad legislation, just as in the present instance, it can be used just as effectively to stopping the best measures that come before the senate. So far as known the senate is the only legislative body on earth where the majority does not control and cannot choke off debate after a reasonable length of time. Under the antiquated rules of the senate a vote cannot be taken as long as a single senator wants to talk. However, the senators prize this power so highly that all efforts to adopt an effective cloture rule has failed.

"What is truth?" asked Pontius Pilate some twenty centuries ago. Whatever it may be it is something the usual run of humanity does not have the nerve to face. The naked truth is too spooky to be attractive to the ordinary run of people and it takes a man of real nerve to face the real honest-to-goodness truth.

Jay, Okla., is getting ready to build a courthouse. And this reminds us that Ada still lives without one.

The Forum of the Press

In Rio Grande do Sul

(San Antonio Express)

Brazil's president, Dr. Arthur da

Silva Bernardes, appointed a military officer as war minister, upon his inauguration last November. He endeavored to distribute the seven cabinet posts according to the peculiar suitability of the persons selected, but also had some regard for their residence. Brazil, embracing more than 3,000,000 square miles, is an empire in itself, and a ministry largely from one section would lack general support.

Gen. Setembrino de Carvalho, the present war minister, is from the southernmost state, Rio Grande

do Sul, and its frontier city, Uruguayana. However, as he has devoted himself entirely to army affairs and particularly to military engineering since he entered the service

forty years ago, the recent local outbreak in his native state affects him little, officially. Under his constitution, the republic's twenty states enjoy practical autonomy and each has its governor, legislature and judiciary. Though the states may not war on one another, the federal government always preserves

a strict neutrality in purely state issues like the present struggle between Governor de Medeiros of Rio

Grande do Sul and his opponents.

The latter assert that the governor's recent re-election was illegal and his twenty year's domination is no longer endurable. The engagement lately reported from Porto

Alegre, the state capital, took place at Nonohay near the upper

Uruguay river and not far from the Brazil-Argentina border. As Nonohay is 60 miles from Passa

Fundo, the nearest railroad station, probably the movement is not serious yet. The federal government has infantry, cavalry and artillery

in Rio Grande do Sul, as the state borders both Uruguay and Argentina. At need, it can assemble several thousand men in the disturbed region, using both land and water transportation.

In such event, Gen. de Carvalho may find himself opposed to many old-time friends; but he is a soldier first and a politician afterward.

There will be peace then in Rio

Grande do Sul, as President Ber-nardes is no temporizer.

Beautiful Spring

(Durant News)

Spring poets will soon be in full bloom.

In the spring a young man's fancy fondly turns to thoughts of love.

All of us must as inescapably yield to the enticement of balmy air, and bursting buds and spring

blade, and greening lawns and me-

dows.

Oklahoma winters are often so glorious in brilliant and unbroken sunshine that we are more or less spoiled for spring, but spring is still spring, and no other season is like it.

Yet unaided nature will not do

all. Rather say, spoiled nature cannot wholly atone for our slack-ness and indolence. Languorous and vapory poetizing will not clear away old tin cans and filthy rubbish, nor dig up the hard soil for next summer's flower garden. Spring is the time to clean up, and toarken the hands with the good clean dirt of the soil.

Last season Oklahoma made thrilling progress in the home-and-town beautification movement. This season should advance as far beyond last as last did over what preceded it.

In a climate where not four months out of the twelve are given over to the barrenness and bleakness of winter, the whole face of nature should be in a perpetual and enchanting smile all the rest of the time.

With an early start, each home premises and the parkings on every street can be made a bower of beauty the long growing season

through. In spite of the unprecedented drought of last season many householders triumphed over all of their limitations. Some did not even use the hose; they used the hoe; they kept the soil stirring.

Certain field crops were planted matured and harvested without a drop of water falling upon them.

Persistent and cheerful cultivation

did the business.

Nothing can daunt the determined. Oklahoma will bloom the whole season long if you will let

it. What are you planning to do to give fair nature a chance?

CHANGE OF LIFE

Florida Lady Was in a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well.

Altha, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of Route 2, this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up."

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get at all. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling."

"I would get depressed and out of heart."

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse."

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results."

"I took one bottle (of Cardui), then I said, 'I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up.'"

"Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right. Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

worth what it costs. The teacher who neglects to develop the emotional powers of her pupils is obstructing the flood gates of life through which flows the refreshing stream of happiness. The emotional life is God's garden where blossoms the rarest flowers—love, hope and contentment.

We are too bigoted. We admire Darwin because he was the descendant of a monkey. We are of the earth earthy. People must think us great, we must speak in terms of wisdom that places us in the ranks of the near great. In fact, we must be too cultured to be real honest. Our attitude is hypocritical. We can't be ourselves but we must be one of a class.

A school teacher should be one, through whose views courses the red blood God gave man when he formed him from dust.

My friend, I know of a truth that an education that fails to connect the ambitions of life with virtue and God, fails utterly.

A grass fire on West 15th street was responsible for an alarm being turned in late Thursday afternoon. No damage was done.

The fire boys have begun work on the East 12th street parking and will soon have it in readiness for flowers and shrubs. This was formerly the favorite bone yard for the stray dogs of the town just since the fire boys took it over a few years ago it has become a beauty spot. The Boy Scouts have had charge of the other park for the past year or two will probably have it in charge again this year.

Farmers' Column

Care of Young Chicks.

This is the concluding article of the series started a few days ago. "When started the chicks will generally hatch rapidly, and you can watch how they act. Should they crowd to the front of the machine, cut the heat down rather than give too much ventilation, but do not stifle them for want of air. When a number are hatched put them into the compartments provided for that purpose, or if none are provided place them in the brooder. Do this quickly each time and so avoid cooling the eggs that have not yet hatched.

"The chicks will need nothing but warmth and the proper amount of clean, warm air for the first twenty-four hours. After this place water before them, after warming it up a little. I also place grit before them at this time, but usually the grit is scarcely touched for some little time more. After thirty-six hours I give the mither first feed. It is perhaps as well for the amateur to purchase prepared chick feeders for his chicks until they pass the danger period, but in the absence of this the first feeding can be of fresh cornbread crumbled into buttermilk. Do not make it too mushy, and do not give any feed before giving grit. Feed about six times the first day, but give each time only about what they will eat up in ten minutes. Continue feeding six times a day for a week, then four times a day for about two weeks, and afterward only twice a day. After the first day's feeding I feed hardboiled eggs with the other feed, chopping them up finely, shell and all. These may be eggs culled from the incubator. This culling has not been mentioned, but should be done, as an infertile egg in the incubator will be cold, and if you take the temperature of the eggs over it you get an erroneous idea as to the temperature of the rest. Of course, the embryos that die in the shell should be entirely destroyed. After the first week I feed clean fresh table scraps of nearly any sort, but not too much meat scraps at first.

"When chicks are very young watch them in the brooder carefully. If they crowd to the center, allow more heat. If they crowd to the walls give a little more heat, but always allow proper ventilation. After they are three weeks old you will not have to watch the brooder so carefully, but it is never good to overheat. Except in extreme cold, give the mosome freedom outside the brooder after the third week, until they no longer care for the heat of the brooder."

French Officer is Confronted by Old Enemy in Germany

(By the Associated Press)

DUSSELDORF.—A French captain, having lunch in a Dusseldorf restaurant the other day noted that his waiter walked with a pronounced limp.

"Where did you get hurt?" he asked.

"At Verdun, sir," replied the waiter proudly and unconsciously coming to attention, "I was before Verdun for two months."

The captain became interested at once. A few more queries elicited the fact that the waiter, during seven days in March, 1916, had been in the German sector facing that held by the French captain's company. Trenches had completely disappeared, and the men of both armies were hidden in shell holes in some places less than ten yards apart. The waiter had taken part in a furious assault upon the captain's lines one day at dawn. The captain remembered that particular attack very well. Twenty-five percent of his company had been killed, wounded or made prisoners.

"Let me get you some hot soup, sir," the waiter said, "this is growing cold. Those were great days," he said as he walked to the kitchen.

BANQUET CLIMAX OF DEMOLAY MEET

Visitors Spend Afternoon in Business Session; Ada May Get Next Meet.

Taking up vital problems in the affairs of the DeMolay in this section of the state, delegates at the annual district convention here completed the business of their meeting late yesterday afternoon and prepared for the banquet in their honor at the First Baptist church.

The meeting was presided over by "Dad" Wilkinson of McAlester.

The holding of the next convention rested after delegates could not decide between Ada and Ardmore, the two contenders. Only thirteen chapters from this district were represented in the voting. George E. Poulter of Ardmore, district governor, also took part in the discussion to come before the convention.

After the conclusion of the business meeting visiting delegates were shown over the city in an auto excursion until the banquet was called.

The banquet, which was prepared by the Rainbow Girls, under the supervision of the Eastern Stars, culminated the program for the convention. Miles C. Grigsby was master of the ceremony.

Following is the program at the banquet:

Relationship of DeMolay to Masonic Body—Rev. F. G. Davis.

Vocal Solo—Oscar Parker.

Outside Looking In—Kathryn Wilenzick.

Inside Looking Out—Don Evans.

Brass Duet—Harvey Faust and Terry Manville.

Washington the Mason—L. A. Ellison.

Cornet Solo—Burgess Steed.

Address—"Dad" Wilkinson.

Vocal Solo—Jackie Wright.

Address—G. E. Poulter.

Round Table.

Brass Quartette—Steed, Meaders, Manville and Faust. Charles E. Cunningham, Accompanist.

COLLEGE NOTES

Professor Fentem is going to Coalburg today to attend a community meeting there.

Mrs. Rucker, life certificate student at the college, is out of school on account of illness.

All members of the faculty who have been on the sick list have returned except Miss Watson and Mr. Newcomb.

Appreciation for all those who assisted in the success of the college play, "It Pays to Advertise" was expressed by the College Council today.

The council especially extends their appreciation to Miss Julia Nicholson, who directed the play.

They also express their appreciation to M. Levin, for the furniture used for the settings. The Fashion Shop for the costumes furnished and The Beauty Shoppe for their assistance in the make-up.

CHAPTER X

Action and More.

Billy Spencer, sitting in his austere furnished bedroom, looked unusually thoughtful. The night was still young, but his candle was not lit. The whole house, indeed, was in darkness. He sat on the window sill and stared out into the night. At last he wandered back to the bedside, his hands thrust in his pockets.

"The partner," he said pensively, "has got something on her mind. A fellow doesn't need any X-rays to see that."

His lips curled down at the corners. "I'd give a lot to know what it is. I hate to seem inquisitive. But I'd hate a lot worse to have anything happen to the partner. An' I can sure smell trouble coming. She doesn't fear man or devil. But that isn't always goin' to help a girl. There's times when it's more useful to call up a husky with big feet—like me."

"She'd sure be mad if she thought I was interfering. And she can get mad—the partner. Gee! but she's great! The dinkiest thing that ever happened. But I don't like the way things are framing."

He stood for a while, as if listening; then sighed and lay down on the bed, fully dressed. In twenty seconds he was asleep, breathing regularly and easily.

It was a doglike sleep, of which some men hold the faculty, and very doglike was the manner in which Billy roused himself some hours later. In a moment he was broad awake, and swinging his legs off the bed, sat listening with cocked ears. He moved swiftly to the window and peered out.

There was nothing to be seen. Billy remained where he was for some seconds, all his senses alert. Then, with a gesture of decision, he snatched up his cap, heaved himself out of the window, and climbed down the trellis.

He came silently under Aimee's bedroom window, glanced up at the open casement, took a little nickel torch from his vest pocket, and bent down. Shading the glow with his hand, he examined the soft soil beneath the window. There were five unmistakable neat little shoe-prints visible; the first pair deep and pointing inward to the wall, the others leading outward.

Billy at once ran noiselessly round to the garden gate and peered up and down the lane. No one visible. He returned quickly, got a rake from the shed, and carefully raked over the footprints; also those beneath his own window. Then he made for the gate, and, after a moment's thought, unlocked the shed where the flying

FITZHUGH.

We had a splendid B. Y. P. U. program Sunday night and all except two brought up their parts. We also have a complete program for Sunday night. Everybody is invited to come.

W. D. Fine will be up in a few days.

Miss Lura Oliphant spent the week end at Roff with her brother and wife.

Leon Lynn made a business trip to Fitzhugh Sunday afternoon.

Miss Georgia Thompson was the guest of Miss Ehlly Nance Sunday.

A. Fine is now at his brother's M. D. Fine.

Mrs. Guy Williams is now able to be up, she has been ill for several days.

Mrs. Cleo Cope is now at home with her parents, but she is still in bed on account of her operation.

Sphinx reposed. He wheeled the cycle out, freeing the engine, and tipped softly down the path with it.

Not till he was clear of the lane and well out on the high road did Billy start the Sphinx, and then only at a very gentle pace. At an easy seven miles an hour he ambled along the road, heading for Jervaulx abbey.

It would have surprised Aimee Scroope considerably had she guessed for one moment how far Billy was abreast of affairs. The carefree, insouciant Billy, who seemed to live for nothing but the Sphinx, was infinitely more wide awake than people gave him credit for. The cool blue eyes missed very little; the brain behind them was able to connect facts together shrewdly.

Aimee had not the faintest suspicion that anybody at Ivy cottage knew she had made an unconventional exit by the window the night before. Billy, however, was perfectly well aware of the fact. Early that same morning, before setting off for Syderford, he had observed the footprints beneath her window, which, to a keen eye, told plainly that Aimee had dropped from the trellis, and later on had regained her room by the same path.

Clearly the partner had made a midnight excursion for a very definite object; people do not roam the countryside in the small hours for nothing.

The incident of the carriage on the Stanhoe road puzzled Billy; he had mentioned the carriage casually to Mrs. Sunning—saying nothing about the collision—and learned that it could belong to none other than Lady Erythea of Jervaulx abbey. He was told a good deal about that establishment. It was easier to start Mrs. Sunning talking than to stop her.

Obviously, Amy had something to fear from Jervaulx; something that bound her to secrecy, and led her to run risks. It annoyed Billy that she should have anything to fear whatever.

"Sometimes," said Billy to himself, as the lodge gates of Jervaulx came in sight, "a broncho filly with the spring blood in her will get down stunts an' galloping among the poplar holes. When they do that they're liable to fall an' break a cannon-bone. It's the same with her. If she doesn't want me, why she doesn't. But if she does, I'm going to be right there."

He dismounted some little distance short of the park entrance. The dark pile of the abbey was visible, a quarter of a mile across the grasslands.

Billy paused and reflected. The journey could be nothing more than a scouting expedition. He wished very much that he had been closer on Aimee's tracks.

Just then he observed a light flash out in one of the abbey windows. Faint, tinny-bell-like sounds were borne to him upon the night breeze—the clanging of a bell.

He watched the house with alert and thoughtful eyes. In a few moments two dim figures became visible, moving swiftly. An imaginative on-looker might have thought them to be goblins, gamboling across the sward. But they kept an uncommonly straight line, crossing the park and heading for a point a few hundred yards to Billy's right. Two people—running swiftly.

Billy followed them with his eyes. The foremost was long-limbed, scudding along with giant strides. The other, close behind, moved no less swiftly, but it was a figure of vague outlines, apparently wearing a cloak or dust-coat. They vanished from sight against the park fence where the lane turned.

"If that ain't a hold-up," said Billy, starting away from the fence, "there never was one yet!"

He heard the cough and splutter of a starting motorcycle under tall trees far up the lane. For one moment he listened, then made a dash for the Sphinx.

"A get-away!" said Billy. "My job!" He threw his leg over the Sphinx and whirled off round the corner. He lifted his chin and gave a joyous laugh, like the bay of a hound. The lust of the hunter was in his blood.

The rider ahead, already aware that he was being chased, let out his machine at breakneck speed. The ray from Billy's lamp showed him a man crouching low between the handle-bars, his arms spread like the wings of a bat. On the pillion behind crouched a small, muffled figure.

"Give up!" shouted Billy, as he overtook them. "You can't make it. I've got you!"

A hand stretched out from the figure on the pillion, and emitted a barking flash of fire. It dazzled Billy for the moment. Something zipped through his hair; automatically his left hand tightened on the valve-lifter and the Sphinx slowed, allowing the other cycle to shoot ahead.

Billy made a loud remark, and at once increased speed again to close with the fugitives. Right ahead the lane forked on to the main road, and thither the driver of the other cycle was obviously heading. But the lights of a car were in sight, approaching rapidly on the road. The rider of the cycle had evidently no ambition to meet it; at the last moment he swerved left and continued along the narrow lane.

Billy laughed aloud. "The guy's cornered himself!" he thought. "He's taken the blind alley. Me for him!"

The lane was very rutty and uneven. The cycle ahead had vanished round a bend; Billy, shutting off his engine, swung round it immediately afterward. As he did so he heard a crash. The driver of the other cycle, realizing too late that he was in a cul-de-sac, had swerved, braked violently, and came thoroughly to grief.

Billy sprang from the Sphinx. In-

The lumber yard was moved this week to Roff.

Bill Barton made a business trip to Roff Saturday afternoon.

ting her fall on her side with the headlight still glowing. The other cycle lay prostrate; a small heap was huddled beside it on the grass.

The taller man, the driver, was just staggering to his feet when Billy ran at him. The cyclist whipped out a repeating pistol.

A gun, at night, and in the hands of a shaken man, is much less certain than a fist with six feet of activity behind it. Billy's left dashed the pistol hand aside, the bullet spat impotently into the air, and his right came with a terrific upper-cut beneath the man's chin, lifting him off his feet to fall inert.

As he came down, something skipped and rolled away from him along the grass, in the ray of the Sphinx's headlight. With the swift instinct for loot Billy pounced upon it—a sumptuous looking little case of leather, with a clasp. Billy thrust it in his pocket and turned to the fallen man, who lay with closed eyes and his head moving faintly from side to side.

"Mighty slow with a gun," said Billy, stooping over him. "I'm going over you for the rest of the goods, Bud."

A moan from the other malefactor, lying by the fallen cycle, interrupted him. So pathetic and treble a moan was it that Billy started and jerked himself upright, staring.

"Lordy!" he gasped, with remorse and concern. "It's a woman!"

The discovery was disconcerting enough. But a thought struck through his brain that nearly paralyzed Billy. What woman was it?

He hurried to her side. She had already raised herself on one hand and seemed trying feebly to get up. Billy stooped over her.

"Much hurt?" he stammered.

"Here—"

At that moment the fallen driver recovered and stirred. Billy turned his head toward him, with a quick instinct—the danger lay closer at hand.

The woman's hand was grasping a stone, and, as Billy turned, she brought her arm round with a sweep, swift as a striking snake. The chunk of rock crashed full on the side of Billy's head. He fell as an ox falls, and lay still.

The woman staggered to her feet and ran to her prostrate companion. "He's got his!" she panted. "You hurt, Jake?"

She helped the man to rise. He stood dazedly for a moment; the spinal jar from a knock-out under the point of the chin is terrible, but evanescent.

"Look lively an' beat it!" gasped the woman, hauling the motorcycle upright with surprising ease. "See if the bulgine'll run—we'll have the cops here next!"

"Got to settle with him!" said the man thickly, glancing at the prostrate Billy.

"He's all in, I tell you. Get her going!"

The man wrenched the motorcycle round, and fumbled at the feed and controls with nervous fingers. While he did so the woman snatched up another stone, and, running to the Sphinx, hammered on the engine and the levers. She had dealt three or four lusty strokes when the other motorcycle came splitting and wobbling past her. The woman ran to it and swung herself up deftly behind it.

"Let her out. We'll clear yet!"

The motorcycle, coughing and missing fire badly, trundled back down the lane the way it had come. Jack the Climber leaned to the handle-bars, Calamity Kate, her arms tight round him, settled herself on the pillion. Together they whirled away into the darkness.

With the Women of Today

By EDITH MORIARTY

Mrs. Kate Selby Wilder.

"Every woman should be concerned with the things that the health department has to deal with. A woman may not have time for much civic activity, but her duty as a wife and mother makes the business of the health department hers."

This is the opinion of Mrs. Kate Selby Wilder, health commissioner of Fargo, North Dakota. City commissioners of Fargo are elected for four years, but positions of the commissioners are changed every two years. For the first two years Mrs. Wilder was police commissioner.

As health commissioner she has to deal with general sanitation, keeping food shops, hotels and cold storage houses clean, disposing of garbage, elimination of contagious diseases, establishment of child clinics and other such health work. In her eyes this work touches the life of every woman and every woman should make time to look into the program of her local health department.

Mrs. Wilder herself has made time not only to head up the Fargo health department, but to head the North Dakota League of Women Voters and the Fargo Business and Professional Women's club. In addition to her various offices she also finds time to do all the house work in her own home.

Mrs. Wilder comes of old fighting stock. Her father was a Civil war veteran and when he took up a soldier's claim in the west he practiced law in the county seat during the week and drove twenty-five miles every Saturday to his claim, which his young wife and baby were "holding down." He later moved his family to Grand Forks where Mrs. Wilder was educated. She taught school and started on her political career by going into the office of the register of deeds of Grand Forks county. There she served as copy clerk, chief clerk and for a time as deputy. She moved to Fargo after her marriage to Fred Wilder and became prominent as a suffrage enthusiast and W. C. T. U. worker.

When asked what qualifications a woman must have to enter city government she replied, "A woman must have executive ability, much patience, tact, and optimism which cannot be discouraged. She should be neat and not extreme about her appearance. She must be able to work with people of all kinds. She must know more about the thing she wishes to attempt than a man needs to know, but she must not air her knowledge."

American Dollar is Souvenir Coin Over German Provinces

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—American dollars hold a magic charm for Germans. Since the quotation of the dollar has run well above 20,000 marks, that coin is regarded as charmed. News-papers display quotations of the dollar in black type on their first pages. It stands alone. Quotations on English, Swiss and Scandinavian money are relegated to the market pages.

An American woman who lives in Berlin was recently approached by a seven-year old German boy, the playmate of her son, who hesitatingly asked: "Won't you please show me a real dollar?"

She handed him a dollar bill to examine, and the boy fingered it for some time in complete silence before protesting: "But its just paper; haven't you a real one?"

The woman explained she had no silver dollar, but assured him the American paper was just as good as the silver, and even more valuable if one wanted to sell it at the bank.

The little fellow wasn't persuaded. He thanked the American woman very politely and walked away in a deep study over the intricacies of currency.

In shops foreigners are frequently asked for dollars. Shopkeepers and clerks are anxious to have at

"Suffering has gone from your face, mother!"

S. S. S. is the Great Builder of Red Blood-Cells and Rheumatism Must Go Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? Me? No, indeed. It's all gone, every bit of it! It's a sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glow again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I bend way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you. There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run down, tired men and women, beautifies complexion, makes the flesh firmer. Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. ## JAPAN TO SEND MEDICS TO U.S.

Nipponese Delegation to Sail for America on Invitation of Educators.

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO.—The first Medical Commission ever sent from Japan to the United States, will sail from Yokohama on February 23rd on board the Taiyo Maru, in response to an invitation from Dr. Vincent as president of the Rockefeller Foundation. Those composing the commission, have been carefully selected from the foremost leaders of the medical profession in Japan, and are men of international reputation. The chairman of the commission, Professor Miura, is the physician to the Emperor, and each one of the scientists on the commission has an established reputation for leadership in his own selected specialty. The Rockefeller Foundation invited the commission to the United States as the guests of the Foundation, and after the Commission has made a tour of inspecting the leading medical centers in the United States, they will return to the Pacific coast via Canada, where they will also visit the most prominent of the Canadian medical universities.

The trip will probably last about three months.

In issuing the invitation, it is the purpose of the Rockefeller Foundation not only to have the pleasure of entertaining these gentlemen, but to add to the solidarity of closer affiliations between the medical profession of North America and Japan. The Commission is proceeding under the authority of the Foreign Office, and it will not only add, it is hoped, very materially to warmer friendship between the scientists of America and Japan but be a real contribution to closer international friendship and understanding between the two countries.

The members of the Commission are: Professor Kinosuke Miura, Chairman, Professor of Internal Medicine, University of Tokio; Professor Mataro Nagayo, Director of Government Institute for Infectious Diseases; Professor Sahachiro Hata, Director of Kitasato Institute for Infectious Disease Research; Professor Akira Fujinami, Professor of Pathology, Kyoto Imperial University; Professor Kinosuke Miyairi, Professor of Hygiene, Kyushu Imperial University; Baron Yoshihiro Takagi, Chief Surgeon and Director of Tokio Charity Hospital.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By taking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

DAWES OUTLINES NATIONAL NEEDS

Claims Nation Needs New Bill of Rights After Labor Intrigues.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—A current era of "increased congressional demagoguery in utterance, flaunting of radical doctrines, pardoning of men convicted of treason and plotting of lawless action by the wily power of certain labor leaders," was Mr. Average Citizen's panoramic as pictured by Charles G. Dawes, former director of the national budget, in an address before the Union League Club tonight.

Mentioning no names, save a tribute to "our great, strong and determined President Harding," Mr. Dawes said:

"The average American citizen has witnessed the pardoning of men convicted of treason against their government in time of war, done with the apparent purpose of carrying political favor with the disreputable elements of our population.

"Here in Chicago he has seen a mayor elected upon a Republican ticket announce a platform which would do credit to soviet Russia and seek to force it through a Republican state convention.

"In congress, he has witnessed in the last few years more demagoguery in utterance than ever before has characterized it.

"He has witnessed a newly elected senator rush into the senate debates with radical, inflammatory and untrue statements.

"He was shocked by the human beasts at Herrin and the lawless acts at Harrison, Ark.

"We have seen tremendous power wielded by certain labor leaders who understand mob psychology and the influence of radicals who lead masses of people to lawless action."

Mr. Average Citizen is demanding a new bill of rights. Mr. Dawes declared, "because the power of organized minorities has become as dangerous to the liberty of the individuals as ever was the power of a prince."

"He who reasons that a halt to weakness in law enforcement and demagoguery is not about to be called and that conditions will become worse, little understands the American people. Some progress has been made—that from the Adamson law to the Daugherty injunction, which in my judgment future generations will regard as the beginning of a new era of law and order. Through it our government announces the right of a man to work is as sacred as the right of a man to stop work."

Pretty Russian Bride is Tossed on Divorce Tide

Nadejda Graham.

(By Central Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—But fettered about on the sea of life like a tiny fishing smack in a North Atlantic gale, Mrs. Nadejda Graham now can sit back and muse on the fickleness of that well-known lady, Dame Fortune, and the biting nature of love.

Nadejda was a concert singer of considerable note in her native Russia when the war broke out. Under the patronage of the old regime the future promised a wonderful career for her.

But the war came. And the war changed everything. Art—except that of nursing—was forgotten and Nadejda did her part of the forgetting.

Then came the overthrow of the czar and the Red reign of terror. All about her blood flowed like water, but somehow Nadejda seemed to bear a charmed life.

By and by came the Americans and with them came George Graham, stalwart and handsome, and Nadejda was so tired of it all—the hardships and the suffering, the ever-haunting fear of the Reds.

Friendship rapidly grew into love and love into marriage. Soon came the day Nadejda was to leave Russia—to leave behind her everything even those horrible memories, in the happiness of her new-found love.

America was the goal and to America they came, Graham and his happy bride.

But once in America the course of love did not run smoothly for Nadejda and eventually she followed the worn path of her American sisters into the divorce court. He was cruel, she charged.

But she loved Graham and because of her love forgave him. Once more their martial craft sailed the chartered seas of happiness. Then came more shoals.

And Nadejda again decided to push her divorce suit.

Another rude awakening. Because she had lived with her husband after filing the suit her plea for divorce was denied.

RAY SETS PAGE FOR MILE RUN

Doughy Chicago Runner Out for New Record in Hard Race.

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—To run the fastest mile credited to man is the ambition of Jole W. Ray, the little Illinois A. C. athlete who has been fairly burning up the boards with his speed on indoor tracks this winter. Until he has had a serious fling at the attempt under proper conditions he will give no thought to retiring, he says.

Ray sets 4 minutes and 10 seconds as within his striding powers for the mile distance. The fastest mile run by man of which there is any record stands to the credit of Norman S. Taber, then a student of Brown University, 4 minutes 12 3-5 seconds. Ray is confident that he can better that time. Coaches of college and club track teams, familiar with the little taxi-driver's running ability, agreed with him, provided he has the conditions that Taber had.

The Brown student body 11 records running on the track at the Harvard Stadium in 1916 against picked opponents who acted as his pacemakers. Such an arrangement is regarded as necessary to bring a better performance from Ray, and Ray indicates that he would welcome an invitation to make such an attempt sometime during the coming summer. The Harvard Stadium, however, probably will not be available for the test, unless some set of games not now scheduled is arranged.

Ray has set himself as secondary objects, the breaking of the American indoor records for the two mile run, 9 minutes 11 2-5 seconds, and for the 3000 meter run 8 minutes, 31 2-5 seconds, (both of which he holds himself) and that of 8 minutes 10 3-5 seconds for the 1 3-4 miles, held by the old-timer, George V. Bonhag.

In his campaigning this season he has shown himself at top speed, breaking the record for the mile and one-third at New York recently, and three days later jumping over to Boston and racing away with the Hunter Mile again in a new record for that event, 4 minutes, 19 seconds. He holds the indoor record for the mile of 4 minutes, 14 3-5 seconds, made four years ago, but says he is running better now than ever before.

Ray attributes much of his success to his ability to judge his pace. A year ago, he declared, before he went to the starting line in the Hunter Mile, that he would run it in 4 minutes, 20 seconds. He set a new record in 4 minutes, 20 2-5 seconds. This year he said in advance that he would run it in 4 minutes 19 seconds. He won in 4 minutes 19 seconds, a furlong ahead of the field. Opponents do not worry him, the confident little racer says, because he is thus able to set his own standards, and his legs sustain the task assigned them. Jole became a runner while he was training to be a boxer, and still aspires to gaining ring greatness some day.

MAIN STREET

Out of memory of George Washington and his cherry tree, there will be no comment on the Friday night dance.

With all due respects to George Washington, the Father of our country, he missed knowing a lot about these United States.

Whether the addition of Oklahoma and Texas after he passed over the hill at Mount Vernon had any effect on the new era is hard to say.

Take for instance in Oklahoma, legislators rave over the Darwinian theory when George was content to stay at home and keep clear of foreign alliances.

Now in Texas some people are protesting by several pillow slips the election of Earle B. Mayfield and are asking George's old government to decide whether a vote is a vote regardless of the application of Cherry Tree logic.

When George had charge of affairs, law makers gathered to make laws and not to form filibuster to get away from making laws.

Oh! there has been several things happen since George wore the thorny crown. Bryan aspired for president on several occasions. Debs has been in again and Manuel Herrick has earned fame as aviator.

After a man gets the bill for his wife's new furs he decides that his old overcoat will be good enough for the winter.

It used to be when one saw a man going down the street with a brief-case in his hands that he could be immediately pointed out as an insurance agent or a lawyer but now-days everybody carries one, even the janitor carries his lunch in one.

When we see some husbands we have a fair idea of their silent partner.

VIENNA—Of 424 candidates for matrimony who presented themselves during one month at the newly established municipal department for "advice in matters of matrimony," the physician in attendance granted certificates to only 36 per cent of the applicants.

Cotton Spinning Industry Showing Increase in U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23, 1923.—The Department of Commerce announces that, according to preliminary figures compiled by the Bureau of the Census, there were 37,225,419 cotton spinning spindles in place in the United States on January 31, 1923, of which 35,240,852 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 24,968,440 for December, 1922, 34,664,630 for November, 33,859,076 for October, 33,296,513 for September, 32,499,324 for August, and 24,441,419 for January, 1922.

The aggregate number of active spindle hours reported for the month was 926,299,904. Based on an activity of 26 1-2 days, (allowance being made for the observance of New Year's in some localities), for 8.74 hours per day, the average number of spindles operated during January was 40,008,203 or at 107.5 per cent capacity on a single shift basis. This number compared with an average of 37,563,116 for December, 39,469,039 for November, 36,834,931 for October, 34,822,378 for September, 34,041,028 for August, and 35,739,250 for January 1922. The average number of active spindle hours per spindle in place for the month was 249.
